SMALL TRADERS BUSY

New York Stocks Being Shunned

by the Large Speculators.

Transactions on 'Change Feverish and Unsettled-Indianapolis Cereals Dull and Not Wanted.

At New York, yesterday, money on call was easy at 2@3 per cent., the last loan being at 21/2, closing offered at 2.

Prime mercantile paper, 7@10 per cent. Sterling exchange was dull, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.85@4.85% for demand and $4.83@4.83% for sixty-day bills. Posted rates, $4.84@4.85; commercial bills, $4.82@4.821/4.

Silver certificates, 744@75c. Bar silver closed at 731/2c per ounce, Mexican dollars at 58%c. At London bar silver closed at 83%d.

Total sales of shares were only 110,100. Speculation on the New York Stock Exchange, yesterday, was of a character to demonstrate very clearly that only the small trading element is in the market. Dullness was the feature from opening to close, and the few movements originate in either side of the acount were sluggish, and without importance as incating any lasting effect on values. It was a halting market and irregular, too slow of pulsation to be feverish, but with that unsettled tone which on active speculation, might precede a marked change in prices, but which, in the torpid condition of the market, meant nothing more than that traders were looking for a lead. But nothing came to disturb the quiet of the situation. Sugar was pretty strongly held all day. At the opening the general market was irregular, and up to noon was heavy on light volume of business. During the afternoon the temper of the speculation was firmer, and a gradual improvement set in, the best prices of the day being made in the late trading. The market closed strong, at or near the highest fig-

The bond market was quite as unsettled as the share speculation. Government bonds were firm and State bonds were dull. Closing quotations were:

LOCAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

A Heavy Rain Checked Trade, but Prices Remained Steady and Firm. Yesterday's heavy rain acted as a dampener on trade. However, the month's business, all things considered, has opened as active as could be expected, and steady prices are ruling. Staple groceries, provisions, poultry and fruits are moving freely, at strong prices. In the vegetable line receipts are increasing. Sweet rotatoes seldom sell as low as at the present. Irish potatoes are off about 25c per barrel. Trade with the seed men is improving, the recent rains helping matters. One house in the last four weeks has sold 2,500 bushels of clover seed.

Local grain is sluggish, and attendance on 'Change slim. The only change in track bids yesterday was in No. 2 white oats. Track bids ruled as follows: Wheat-No. 2 red, 60c; No. 3 red, 57c; No. 2 mixed, 28%c; No. 3 mixed, 27%c; re-

Fall Feeding of Young Stock.

American Agriculturist. Young farm stock, whether intended for the slaughter or to be retained upon the farm, should be kept growing continually until nearly, if not fully, the average size is attained. Keep the animals in good pasture during the summer and during the usual droughts of early autumn. If an ex-tra growth of corn fodder to be used as a daily feed is not attainable, then a feed of grain should be given at least once a day.
During the cold, stormy days that prevail before stock finally go into winter quarters the grain feed should be maintained, and when brought to the yard warm, comfortable shelter should be provided. Do not practice the foolish policy of attempting to see how cheaply one can winter stock that there may be more grain and hay to sell in the spring. On the contrary, give them the best of fodder, if there be a choice. This need not necessarily be dealt out in large quantities, but in amounts that will be eat-en up cleanly previous to the next feeding. A quart of ground feed fed daily to a calf or colt, or a small handful to each lamb, will greatly stimulate growth and prove a good financial investment for the stock raiser.

Bloat in Cattle.

A correspondent of Hoard's Dairyman gives the following remedy for bloat in When an animal is attacked with bloat, the best, quickest, surest, one may say infallible, remedy is a stick about eighteen inches long and as thick as one's wrist. When a cow is attacked, she should immediately be put into the stanchion, or tied up so that she can be handled. The stick is then forced crosswise into her mouth. It is kept in its place, like a bit in a horse's mouth, by a cord attached to one end of the stick and passed over the neck just behind the horns and fastened to the other end. The cow will immediately begin to straggle with the tounge to get rid of the stick and simultaneously will begin to throw the wind up from the stomach. In ten to fifteen minutes the animal will be well. Before using this remedy, we lost many cattle from bloat. Now none are mating purposes, the workers soon get rid of them. It is supposed that when their usefulness is at an end they are driven out to perish, but it may be that they live out their allotted time and in the throes of death the workers take them out to die.

CHICAGO WHEAT DOWN

December Future Breaks Below 69c, and Closes at 68 7-8c.

Corn in Good Request and Holds Strong at Higher Prices, with Provisions Also Going Up.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.-The seemingly talismanic figure, 69c, was broken down by wheat to-day, chiefly on sick cables and light exports. In addition, a larger total that any previous day on this crop was made by the total receipts at primary Western markets. Corn and oats were firm and gained about 4c for the active deliveries. Provisions made another moderate advance on a small business. Wheat, at the opening, was weaker and 1/401/4c lower, then advanced %c, but again eased off, prices declining %c, held steadier, and the closing was %c lower than yesterday. The lower opening was attributed to lower English cables, and influenced some by the weather, which was favorable for seeding. But there was fair inquiry, and not much wheat being on sale, the market responded to the buying, which was largely to cover shorts, and prices were advanced to the top range. Then followed an easier feeling, due to increased offerings, and prices dropped to the inside range.

Initial trades in corn were at 1/201/4c advance, and, under a good demand, principally from shorts, sold up 14@1/2c more The continued wet weather and talk by receivers of a falling off in the movement was the chief cause of the advance. The nearby futures were in especially good request, shippers being active buyers. After the early advance the price sagged back %c, partly in sympathy with wheat, but rallied afterwards, ruled steady and closed with 1/4@1/2c gain. It is reported that as much as 3,000.000 bushels capacity has been chartered and will be shipped this week if vessels arrive in time.

There was only a light trade and a steady feeling in oats. Prices had a %c range and the close was at %c advance for the day. Small receipts of hogs and extremely small stocks of manufactured goods were considered grounds for higher prices for provisions. Packers were good supporters of prices for January, but on attempting to sell out some on the advance there was no apparent demand from outsiders, and prices slid off easily again. January pork closed 5c higher. Lard for October is .15c higher, and January .05c higher. Ribs gained .021/2c for October. January, after an early advance of about .10c, sold off and closed the same as on the previous after-

The demand for vesel room was fair and the market easy at 21/4c for wheat and 2c for corn to Buffalo. Estimated receipts for to-morrow are: Wheat, 165 cars; corn, 440 cars; oats, 240 ears; hogs, 20,000. The Dry Goods. NEW YORK, Oct. 3. — The dry-goods market has changed in no important respect. There is a very fair demand for goods through the mails. If anything, the resident buyers are less aggressive. Prices rule about steady for the more staple kinds of goods, with some varieties pos-itively strong on hurry orders, which shows a destitution of supplies in the in-terior. Brown sheetings command full prices on a prompt demand. Drills are scarce and wanted. Bleached shirtings sell well, and the more fancy kinds of cotton goods at least hold their own. Prints and printed fabrics rule steady, with a fair demand, and some difficulty in securing certain tickets, owing to the uneven con-dition of assortments. Fall River reports weakness for printing cloths, while ginghams and woven fabrics are in fair de-mand at steady values. Dress goods and woolens have an average trade, with prices somewhat irregular, and demand mainly for staples and the cheaper kind of fancies; low-grade goods are neglected. Clothing woolens are dull, especially for heavy-weights. Foreign dry goods show subsiding activity, without much variation in

THE CRECHE AT THE FAIR. A Useful and Interesting Exhibit of the Day Nursery Sytsem,

Transfers, 13; consideration.....$33,015.00

When the idea of having a creche or day nursery exhibit in the Children's Building at the world's fair was first suggested to the board of women managers, of New York State, by Miss Love, of Buffalo, and adopted, it met with opposition from persons interested in philanthropic work all over the country. It was said that many foundlings would be left there, that an active exhibit was impracticable, and that the nursery work itself would be injured, not helped, by a poor showing of its methods. Some said that there would not be twenty children left to be cared for each day; others, that a thousand mothers would apply daily. In spite of opposition, Miss Love and Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, of New York, determined to try it, and make it not only an exhibit of the day nursery system, but a charity to mothers and children visiting the exposition. The result has fully met their expectations, as many mothers all over the country can testify, and they hope it will be the means of starting day nurseries in several of the large cities where they are much needed. Few of the Western cities have even one, where several would do good. New York, with eighteen in operation, has not enough for the growing popu-

Day nurseries are for the benefit of poor women who go out to work by the day, and are intended not only to take care of the children physically but morally as well. Their bodies are kept clean, their health cared for, and their minds trained in the kindergarten. The same children come often, and learn to love the nursery-sometimes better than their homes-consequently it takes little care to make them contented. In the nursery exhibit the children are changed each day, and are usually homesick, so that it has been difficult to make them comfortable and happy, and at the same time carry out the rules of a day nursery; but in most cases this has been accomplished. It is not possible to carry out the regulations regarding change of clothes and baths, which are necessary among children of the very poor. The rales of diet, sleep, hours of meals and kindergarten class have been en-

The exhibit has been under two managements. For the first three months of the exposition the methods of the "Fitch Creche and Training School for Nursery Maids" of Buffalo have been shown under the supervision of Miss Love, with Mrs. Harris in charge as matron. During the last three months the day nurseries of New York city and State, with the first training school for nursery maids connected with the Babies' Hospital have been represented under the supervision of Mrs. Dodge, with Miss Hall, of Virginia Day Nursery, as

Until August the number of children admitted was not large, owing to the small attendance at the fair; but since the crowds have increased, hundreds have been turned away for lack of room, the corps of assistants increased, and the patience and strength of the nurses taxed to the utmost. The small som charged-25 cents-pays for the food of the children, the Board of Women Managers of New York State bearing the chief expenses.

The system of checking the children (which was the only method safe with such numbers) has led to some ridicule and much misunderstanding as to the object of the nursery, but those who planned and carried out the exhibit hope that real good has been accomplished. The present experiment has proved that an active day nursery in connection with expositions is not an inpossibility. At the Paris exposi-tion, in the city where the first creches were started, the exhibit was only a silent one, and it is an interesting fact that during the Paris Exposition nearly a thousand children were abandoned on the grounds, while only three have been forsaken in the day nursery exhibit at Chicago, and all of those on the opening day. The interest of the public in this exhibit is increasing. There is always a crowd in front of the windows looking into the nursery rooms. Of all the exhibits which

DAILY.

SUNDAY

The Journal's price for daily is only 15 cents a week, and it has a very wide circulation, reaching a large number of people hitherto unable to afford the luxury of a first-class daily paper. Reports from agents and subscribers indicate a continued increase, and that what used to be regarded as a luxury has become a necessity. The new readers not only remain, but they are coastantly increasing.

It is the purpose of the Journal to make itself even more indispensable to its patrons, new and old, and to still further widen its field. To this end it will not only endeavor to maintain the 400.00 | characteristics which have established its reputation as by far the best newspaper in Indiana, but will add such new features and improvements from time to time as are in accord with journalistic progress and that may tend to the advantage of its readers. It will, for example, give increased attention to State and local interests. What Indianians want is a paper in which Indiana affairs given are especial prominence and importance. This want the Journal has always supplied as no other paper published outside or inside the State is able to do; but the rapidly developing in lustries and business and social enterprises of the community call for additional consideration and space, With this in view its corps of correspondents has been increased until ithas a representative in nearly every town in the State Special traveling correspondents will visit the news centers of the State at frequent intervals, thus insuring the "write up" of every important event or matter of general interest.

Being published in the geographical center of Indiana the Journal is afforded unusual facilities for securing news promptly, and, what is of greater consequence, is able to reach its subscribers without delay. The running of moraing trains from Indianapolis is very favorable to the early distribution of papers sent by mail or express, and in most towns within a radius of a hundred miles Journals are delivered as early as in the city where they are printed. In the more remote counties there is but little loss of time in trans-

The Journal is the paper for Indianians and particularly for Indiana Republicans. The change of administration involves the settlement of political problems likely to be of the most direct personal concern to every farmer and business man in the State. All such matters will be set forth in detail, the Journal's Washington correspondent being instructed to give especial attention to every hing having a possible bearing on Indiana interests.

But though the Journal is Republican in politics it is non-partisan in the publication of news. Its constantendeavor is to secure facts unbiased by prejudice and to make its columns trustworthy records of each day's happenings. A large editorial force supplements the work of the press associations and the correspondents, and furnishes careful supervision for each department.

The Sunday Journal has a well-established literary character, superior to that of any Western paper. It is not defaced by "plate matter" nor filled with a heterogeneous mass of syndicate literature, but its contributions and miscellany are chosen with a view to their special fitness and adaptability to the tastes of the readers. The reading matter in any given number of the Sunday Journal is equal in quantity and is not inferior in quality to that found in the leading magazines. As an educational adjunct and a source of entertainment the Sunday Journal is indispensable in every well-regulated family.
